

ITINERARIO LIBERTY

The Littoria House in Aielli

It is a two-storey building which stands near the church, as a continuation of the Sacrarium. The façade on the ground floor is a completely smooth wall and links up with a cantilever roof to another smaller wall where the entrance is situated.

Precisely on the main wall a great ceramic is set, which reproduces the map of the Empire probably realized by Augusto Chini at Chini Manufacturing in Florence. Another intervention of Augusto Chini is the inscription "Casa Littoria" present in the upper part of the building.

On the south wall, by the Sacrarium, there is the memorial tablet of the sanction, in Carrara marble, and the coat of arms of Aielli, in ceramic, probably also carried out by Augusto Chini.
